

Adirondack Diversity Data

Version #1.01
3/18/2019

INTRODUCTION:

The Adirondack Diversity Data project, (Version #1) was begun in 2017 and completed in 2019. Version #1 uses census data for Essex County, NY. The plan is to expand this data collection to include other northern New York counties. The purpose of this project is to help researchers, families, descendants, and writers find the information they need to preserve the history of racial and ethnic minorities in Northern New York.

This version was made using U.S. and New York State census records from the years 1790 to 1940. The format used was an EXCEL (.xls) spreadsheet with the titles of the columns taken from U.S. Census templates.

In the early years, census forms were not standardized, and were often incomplete. The scans used for this project are found on Ancestry.com. Some scans were misplaced or put in the wrong order, which has led to errors in reporting. For instance, in the 1850 mortality schedule for Essex County, NY only a few towns are listed, but data has been collected for the whole county. Thus, many of the deaths appear to have occurred only in the Town of Minerva. However, after checking the last names, it became clear that the deceased came from all over Essex County. The person transcribing the records in 1850 apparently failed to list the town names for the place of the deaths.

A similar error occurred in the census of 1810. The census taker used the last column on each page, which was supposed to record the number of slaves, and instead used that column to count the number of looms and cloth manufactured by each household. Thus, it is easy to misinterpret the number recorded as the number of slaves, rather than the number of looms.

Many of the census takers failed to record color or race in the column assigned for that purpose. In some cases, the column was left blank and in other cases it was filled with the letter W which stood for White, so every person listed was given the same racial category.

In this first attempt at collecting data, researchers and historians may find errors or notice certain persons were not listed. When there was no racial category listed, the person was assumed to be white unless there was evidence otherwise. In some places, additional information has been added that was NOT in the census. This information is shown in italics or parentheses.

The RED fonts are used for all listings of persons of color, and the BLACK fonts for any person whose race or color was listed or assumed to be white. Many families had mixed marriages and children were sometimes listed as mulatto, so all persons of color are shown in RED.

The second part of this project is to identify and list persons of color in Clinton and Franklin Counties.
